& CO. APPOINTED. organization Finn to Be Pached 8500, 600 to Be Enlard Before March 28-Stockholders Called Upon to Contribute,

The Long Island Traction Company, lesses of the Brooklyn Heights Trolley Company, has passed into the hands of a receiver. Horace J. Morse of the firm of A. M. Kidder & Co., bankers at 18 Wall street, was appointed such on Monday by the United States Circuit Court of Virginia, in which State the Traction Company

The application for a receiver was made by Thomas Moore, the counsel of the company, and was endorged by the committee of stockholders which was recently appointed to devise some plan to extricate the company from its financial difficulties. Mr. Morre was the Chairman of the committee, but on receiving notice of his appointment as receiver, resigned from the committee, and J. G. Jenkins, President of the First National Bank, has been appointed in his place. The committee sent out yesterday this notice to the stockholders explaining the situation: In the Stockholders of the Long Island Traction Con

After the circular of March 8 was issued, hos-life proceedings were threatened against the Long Island Traction Company, which, if taken, would, in the opinion of your committee, have been injurious to the best interests of the larger number of the creditors and stockholders of the heen injurious to the best interests of the larger number of the creditors and stockholders of the company.

Certain of the collateral trust noteholders of the company, acting for themselves and others, have, therefore, proceeded against the Long Island Traction Company and the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company, in the domicile of the Traction Company in Virginia, and the United States Circuit Court has appointed Horace J. Morse receiver of the Long Island Traction Company.

Such action was taken with the knowledge and approval of your committee and stockholders of the company to a large amount, in the beller that it was necessary at the present time. This application for a receiver, however, is simply an anticipation of like action, which, in the opinion of your committee and its counsel, might ulumately have been necessary in order to accomplish the prompt and successful reorganization of the company.

Before a receivership at this time was contempated the cooperation of a large majority of the holders of the collateral trust notes (which your committee in its previous circular stated would be invited) had been secured in sid of reorganization, subject to the raising by your committee of the sun of $500,000 before March 28, 1895.

reorganization, subject to the raising by your committee of the sum of $500,000 before March 28, 1825.

Such cooperation, in brief, is that moneys convibuted by stockholders and others shall, under certain conditions, share in equal proportion with the assenting collateral trust notcholders in any reorganization of the Traction Company. It is now the intention of your committee to advance the money, to pay the rental and other obligations, to the receiver instead of to the company as before outlined. The receiver's certificates, if issued and purchased, will be help by your committee and disposed of for the company as before outlined. The receiver's certificates, if issued and purchased, will be help by your committee and disposed of for the benefit and protection of the contributors of moneys and of the assenting notcholders.

This arrangement with the assenting noteholders will, in the opinion of your committee, insure the contributing stockholders greater protection than could otherwise be possible.

The stockholders are therefore urged to contribute the amount of $\frac{8}{2}$ per share herefofore requested and thus participate to the fullest extent in the benefits of any reorganization which may take place.

The participation receipts, to be issued by the committee, will be ready for delivery on Friday, the 22d inst. Meanwhile, contributors will receive the receipt of either the First National lank of Brooklyn, the People's Trust Company of Brooklyn, the New York, to arranty and Indemnity Company of New York, to be exchanged for the committee's receipts as soon as as me are printed and ready for delivery.

The term of deposit is extended to Monday, the 25th inst. Mr. H. J. Morse has resigned from this committee, and Mr. J. G. Jenkins has been selected to fill the vacancy.

President Lewis has sent a notice to the stock-holders endorsing the above circular.

COMPETING TROLLEY LINES.

Arguments Against Them Before the Con-

HARTFORD, March 10.-Representatives of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and New York and New England railroad companies appeared before the Railroad Committee of the Connecticut Legislature to-day to protest against the granting of charters to electric lines paralleling ex-isting railroads. Ex-Judge John M. Hall, Vice-President of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, presented the following statistics showing the depreciation in receipt of fares during the past three months, which are traced directly to the competition by electric railroads where they parallel the New Haven lines between stations:

Between Norwalk and Rowayton, a loss of 50 per cent, of the entire business. Between Bridgeport and Southport, a loss of 80 per cent, of all Between Bridgeport and Stratford, S.to per day. Between New Haven and Wood-mont station, 50 per cent, of all business. Be-tween New Haven and West Haven, 70 per cent, of all business. Between Wallingford and Mer-iden, 50 per cent, of all business. Between New liaven and Lake Saifonstall, 45 per cent, of all bisiness. Between Meriden and Yaleaville, about 90 per cent, of all business. Bebisiness. Between Meriden and Yalesville, about 90 per cent, or all business. Between Southington and Plantville, practically all the business. Between Unionville and Hartford, 40 per cent, of all business. Fetween Information and Giastonbury, 30 per cent, of all business. Between Derby, Ansonia, and Hirmingham, 90 per cent, of all business. Between Ansonia and Derby, $1,500 a year. Between Naugatuck and Waterbury, $170 per cent, of all business. Between Union City and Waterbury, $170 per cent, of all business. Between Witmingank, 90 per cent, of all business. Between South Norwalk and Winnipank, 90 per cent, of all business. Between Norwalk and Royalton, 50 per cent, of all business. The statements by the representatives of the different steam railroads created a great deal of comment, as the reduction in their receips canted by electric road competition far exceeds catera by electric road competition far exceeds tny computation previously made.

To Pay Colorado and Texas Bonds.

Lincoln, Neb., March 19.-Judge Dundy ves terday granted an order directing the receivers of the Union Pacific Railway to pay over to Granville Dodge a trust fund amounting to Graville Dodge a frust fund amounting to $27,897, now due and payable. The receivers of the Union Pacific Railway Company held a trust fund amounting to $30,000, pending the hitigation over the validity of the bonds of the Colorado and Texas Railroad. Those bonds have now been declared valid, and Judge Dundy made the order taked for yesterday morning in favor of Budge, as holder of the coupons, a little over $2,000 having been deducted from the full amount of the trust fund, as an offset to the Union Pacific for freight shipments, which made the order against the receivers of the Union Pacific Railway Company.

Bella Bradley Fractured Margaret Daly's

Margaret Daly, 52 years old, of 442 West Twenty-eighth street, and Delia Bradley of 531 West Thirtieth street, quarrelled at the latter's home, on Monday night. Delia selzed a bottle and struck her opponent on the head, fracturing her skull. Margarett was taken to Bellevue Hospital in a precarious condition. Her assailant market. RAPID TRANSIT PLANS. leaten Practically Bees Away

The Rapid Transit Railroad Commission held in open meeting yesterday at its rooms in the Home Life building to listen to protests and suggestions regarding the routes and plans of construction which were adopted two weeks ago. While the members of the Commission were gathering in the main room the protesting property owners gathered in the ante-room. There were two distinct sets of these.

The larger delegation was of persons who are interested in property which lies along the Boulevard between Ninety-second and 112th streets. This lot was headed by Lawyer Francis M. Jencks. They came to protest against car-rying the rapid transit road upon a viaduct on the Boulevard from Ninety-third street to 111th street. Then there was a committee from Washington Heights favoring an extension of the Manhattan Elevated Railroad system. Lawson N. Fuller was its self-constituted spokesman. Other interests were also represented.

The meeting opened at 2:30, with John H. Starin in the chair, and Seth Low, John Chaplin, John H. Inman, William Steinway, and Comptroller Fitch also present. Afterward President Orr arrived, but he did not take the chair. Lawyer David McClure was the first speaker. He appeared, he said, for Manhattan College to protest against the building of a viaduct across the Manhattan valley in front of the grounds owned by the college. Manhatian College, he said, was poor and could ill afford to have its property from 132d to 134th street injured, as it would be, by a viaduct which would be twenty-four and one-half feet above the street at 131st street and twenty-three and onehalf feet high at 132d street. Even though it were to be fifty feet away from their buildings street at 131st street and twenty-three and one-half feet high at 132st street. Even though it were to be fifty feet away from their buildings, he said, a viaduct which, with the cars upon it, would be forty-six feet high, would practically ruin the property for school purposes.

"When city money is to be used," he said, we ask that the citizens' money shall not be so used as to destroy so much property."

Here Mr. Fitch called Mr. McClure's attention to the fact that the Commission had a bill before the legislature asking for $5,000,000 more, and asked him, as an expert, whether he thought that sum would be enough to pay the damages which might accrue along the route.

"No. sir," said Mr. McClure: "$5,000,000 is not at all to be considered."

George A. Morrison was the next speaker. As a property owner on the Boulevard he protested against either a viaduct or an open cut. He wanted a tunnel from the Battery to 123d street.

Here Mr. Inman said that he was prepared to vote at once for an underground road to 123d street.

"I say the same thing," said Mr. Fitch.

It was at this point that Mr. Foller arose. He had not got under way when Mr. Inman protested. "I will not stay in the room if Mr. Fuller is allowed to speak," he said. "In a speech which he made on Friday hight he insuled this Commission. He said he would like to get into a room with the six of us and end the matter by a physical contest."

Mr. Fuller had to sit down.

Mr. Jenieks made an argument against the Ninety-third street viaduct. It soon became plain that no further talk was needed, The viaduct had been adopted purely as a matter of economy in the first place, and the Commission was evidently glad of an excuse for abandoning it. Mr. Steilways said further argument was unnecessary. The minds of the Commission error were fully made up, he said, to have an underground road and to reduce the heicht and length of the viaduct at Manhattan Valley as much as possible. He moved that the meeting on that matter be closed.

Churles T. Barney and N. A. McBri

A long executive session followed, at which A long executive session followed, at which the proposed routes and plans were discussed. Secretary Delafield said afterward that in the new plans the viaduct would be eliminated except at the Manhattan Valley. The routes would be the same as those already adopted, but the general pians would be more specific than in the resolutions of two weeks ago. The new resolutions will be printed and made public by Thursday or Friday.

TRYING TO ARBITRATE.

Conference On the Building Trades Strikes at Bishop Potter's House,

Another attempt was made yesterday to bring about a settlement of the electrical workers' strike. A meeting instigated by the New York Council of Conciliation and Mediation was held in Bishop Potter's residence, 10 Washington square, yesterday afternoon, at which represen-tatives of the Council, the Mason Builders' and the Electrical Contractors' associations, and the Board of Walking Delegates were present. The New York Council was represented by Bishop Potter and Prof. Felix Adler, the Mason Builders' Association by Builder John S. Welles. the Electrical Contractors' Association by Conthe Electrical Contractors' Association by Con-tractor Charles L. Eidlitz, and the Board of Walking Delegates by Delegate W. J. O'Brien of the Granite Cutters' Union, Richard J. Anslow of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' Union, and Jacob E. Bausch, delegate of the United Wood Carvers. Bishop Potter had to leave before the meeting was over. As he left the house he said to a SUN reporter: "Judging from the progress made the trouble looks nearer a settlement than it ever did before, have strong house now that a settlement will have strong hopes now that a settlement will

I have strong hopes now that a settlement will be reached."

When the meeting adjourned all who had attended it said that matters looked favorable for a settlement.

No new sympathetic strikes will be ordered until the pending negotiations are concluded. Only a few of the electrical wiremen are at work on the three jobs of Contractor Downey, where the sympathetic strike was declared off. It was understood that if the other trades went back on union conditions the electrical work could wait for a white.

At the headquarters of the electrical workers yesterday, there was an evident hope that matters would be settled by arbitration. The strikers claimed that they were not badly off, and that

HOEBER'S DEEP MYSTERY.

WILL TELL NO MORE UNLESS MISS HANNIGAN DIES.

Dr. Pettingtil Pat Under Bonds-A Banker's

Non Is Also Made a Prisoner and Re-leased Under Bonds - Coroner Mocher Says He Has Consulted Col, Fellows. Coroner Hoeber's mysterious prisoner who was arrested on Monday afternoon on a charge of having performed a criminal operation on a young woman, and who was afterward released under $5,000 ball, proved yesterday to be Dr. Henry B. Pettingill of 123 West Thirty-ninth street. He is a graduate of the Detroit Medical College and a member of the County Medical Society. He is about 35 years old. Policeman

Stephen Reardon of the West Thirtleth street station arrested him. To Reardon Dr. Pettingill said that an attempt had been made to blackmall him. He said that the young woman, whose name is Lorotta Hannigan, had called at his office on Feb. 27 and requested him to perform a criminal operation. He says that he refused, and she left without paying him any fee. He says that he didn't hear of her again until he received a message on Sunday last from the physician who reported the case to the Coroner. The man who was charged by Miss Hannigan in her aute-mortem statement with being reday afternoon and released under $5,000 bonds, furnished by his father. A policeman in citizen's clothes took him to Coroner Hoeber's zen's clothes took him to Coroner Roeber's house, at Lexington avenue and Fifty-third street, and the Coroner promised to be responsible for him.

The policeman left, and Coroner Hoeber placed his prisoner in the front room of his house and locked the door. The young man admitted that he had been intimate with Miss Hannigan, and he sent for his father to bail him out. It was nearly 5 o'clock before the bonds were signed. The young man went away with his father and two friends.

Coroner Hoeber said: "I shall give out no information in the case. The young woman is the daughter of poor parents, and she had worked for the man whom she charges with heing responsible for her condition. I took her formal ante mortem statement last night, and I think that there is a chance that she may recover. What I shall do in that case I cannot tell. I know the father of this young man. He is a wealthy banker, and good for bonds a hundred times $5,000." But do not the records in this case belong to

"I do, and I know that he is a man of high standing, and that he has done all that was possible under the circumstances. He told me that he was called in on March 6, and that the operation had been performed on Feb. 27. This case has worried me so that I haven't sleptsince Sunday and I have hardly tasted food. The girl is about 20 years old and very pretty. Her father is a skilled mechanic and her brother conducts a plumbing establishment. It was only last night that the father learned of the real cause of his daughter's illness, and he is broken hearted. The young man who has been arrested made no admissions except that he had been intimate with the girl. I do not intend to disclose his name. I shall keep the papers right here in my pocket for the present. Two physicians have telephoned to me to-day to say that I was acting right in this matter."

It was learned last night that Dr. David P. Austin of 251 West Twenty-fifth street is the physician who reported the case to Coroner Hoeber. Dr. Austin said that he was called to attend the girl on March 6, and found her suffering from the effects of a criminal operation and in a very serious condition. He at once mortem statement. Late last night Dr. Austin visited the girl and said that he did not expect her to live until morning.

the alarm, and a small party went down to the beach. The stranded vessel was discovered to be the Mary A. Hall of New York, Capt. M. N. Vezzie, with a cargo of lumber. She was in no immediate danger, and, as the sea was running high, no attempt was made to reach her, nor did any of those aboard try to get ashore.

After a while the Captain wrote a message on a shingle and cast it overboard. It was soon washed ashore, and proved to be a message to Capt. Scott of New London, across the Sound from the point, saking for a tug. The message was forwarded to the telegraph office in this village and wired to New London. Later a tug crossed the Sound, and at last accounts was aloneside the stranded vessel. The crew of the schooner were at the pumps, and the vessel seemed to be leaking badiy.

It was learned later that the schooner had sailed from Pensacola on March 2, bound for New Haven. She went ashore early this morning during a heavy northerly gale.

After the arrival of the wrecking tug from New London it was said there was a chance of getting the schooner off, unless the wind increased. She is now lying 200 feet off shore.

DOCTORS DISCUSS GOUT

Its Presence in America and the Best Diet for Those Who Have It. Gout was discussed in the section on general edicine at the Academy of Medicine in West Forty-third street last night. Dr. Louis Bishop read a paper, "A Review of the Present State of Our Knowledge of Gout and a Discussion of Its Comparative Frequency in America," and there was a discussion of the subject by Dr. William H. Draper, Dr. F. P. Kinnicutt, and others. Dr. Bishop's paper was scientific and extremely interesting to the medical profession. He re-viewed briefly the opinions of the leading writers on the subject and their theories as to the cause of the disease. Then he described the symptoms of the various kinds of goot and gave his own ideas, as well as those of the men whose works he quoted, as to the cause and the treatment of the discase.

met with here in comparison with its prevalence in England. One reason was that the country was not as old, and another was the very small amount of sour wine consumed here. "Unfortunately." he said, "the drinking of sour wine is becoming more frequent with the growth of American vineyards and the manu-facture of native wine."

sour wine is becoming more frequent with the growth of American vineyards and the manufacture of native wine."

Among the things to be avoided by gouty persons, he said, are fermented alcoholic liquors, acid wines, and champagne. Alcohol, if used at all, should be used in the shape of good whiskey.

Dr. Draper opened the discussion on the paper. He spoke of the nervous theory mentioned by Dr. Bishop. "It is very incomplete, and yet it is one of the most important to be considered," he said. "This must be admitted by every one who has seen much gout."

He said there was a very striking analogy to a purely nervous disease in the mode of attack; in the auddenness of it. He thought the uric acid theory was possibly exaggerated. He had met with many persons who had an inordinate amount of uric acid in their blood, and yet who did not suffer from gout, and other persons who had very little who did suffer from the disease. There was a tendency on the part of many to draw too large conclusions from chemical nathological examinations.

The gouty habit, he said, was a constitutional vice. He believed that was clear, because it was hereditary—just as hereditary as form and feature. Another curious thing about the habit was that it was associated with one other important disease sometimes in the same individual, but never often in members of the same family. This disease was diabetes. He considered diabetes unquestionably a gouty disease. As to the treatment of the disease, he was not in accord with the popular notion of abstinence from mat dist. He had had numerous cases where meat diet was the best. Regarding the use of injuor, he said: "Patients ind that if they take beer or wine then they suffer." Referring again to the question of meat diet, he said that some day probably it would be discovered why persons whoo ugain not to eat animal food, but do eat it, cannot cat the carbo-hydrates which they ought to cat.

Dr. Kinnicut spoke briefly on the same line as Dr. Draper. As to the frequency of gout he said: "It exists in Itself.

After one or two others had spoken Dr., Draper spoke of the use of mineral waters in the treatment of the disease, and he suggested that perhaps, after all, the most effective thing about the waters was the water part. In other words, pure water drank in the quantities that persons who go to mineral springs usually drink of mineral water was just as good as mineral water.

CHICAGO, March 19.-Christopher W. Larraec, cashier and head accountant for Boyd, Stickney & Co., wholesale coal dealers at 175 Dearborn street, and a nephew of ex-Gov. Lar-Dearborn street, and a nephew of ex-Gov. Larrabes of Iowa, is missing, and his accounts are short. Experts are at work on his hooks and the amount of shortage is not known, but it is thought it will reach $10,000. The liscal year ends March I with Boyd. Stickney & Co., and at that time a balance sheet is supposed to be ready for inspection by the firm. When asked for the sheet farrabee said he had not had time to finish it. At the beginning of last week he was told that the sheet must be forthcoming immediately. On Thursday afternoon he was not at his desk, and nothing has been seen or heard of him since.

Rescued a Schooner's Crew.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., March 19.—The British schooner Gypsum Prince arrived here yesterday with the crew of the schooner B. H. Jones of Thomaston, Me., from New York for Portland, Capt. L. S. Whittemore. On Monday morning last his schooner was dismasted twenty-five miles southeast of Thatcher's Island while carrying reefed sails. The schooner's boat was stove, and signals of distress were set. The crew was taken off at daylight by the Gypsum Prince. Nothing was saved from the wreck. Twenty minutes after they were taken off the see had become so rough that a boat could not live on it. Thomaston, Me., from New York for Portland.

WASHINGTON, March 10.-It is very evident that the people of the District of Columbia appreciate the benefits they enjoy from being wards of Congress instead of enfranchised citizens. The Washington Star has made a capvass o get an expression of the sentiment of the residents, and finds it to be very strongly in favor of a perpetuation of the present form of municipal government, under which three Commissioners appointed by the President carry out the laws of Congress for the government of the District. To the question: "Should suffrage be restored in the District of Columbia?" 795 replies of representative citizens in every walk of life were returned, and of that number were returned, and of that number 531 were opposed to the restoration of suffrage, as against 284 in favor of it. Of the 531 voting against auffrage 472 made no qualification whatever and 59 voted against a restoration of suffrage such as formerly existed in the District, but suggested a form of government with suffrage, or a limited suffrage, which they would favor. One hundred and ninety-one citizens voted unqualifiedly for a restoration of auffrage, the other seventy-three who voted for suffrage having coupled the votes with suggestions as to some qualifications to be required. The result of this canvass indicates that the famous "Feather Duster" Legislature of reconstration for the citizens of the District of Columbia, nearly all of whom have a legal residence elsewhere, can prevent it.

Collector Kilbreth spent several hours at the Treasury Department to-day consulting the officials about the business affairs of the New officials about the business affairs of the New York Custom House. He conferred with Assistant Secretary Hamilin about proposed changes in the dock regulations relative to the handling of cargoes. The object is to amend the present regulations so as to facilitate the business of the port, which is beginning to feel the effect of the spring trade. He also had a consultation with acting Supervising Architect Kemper in connection with certain alterations and improvements to the interior of the Custom House butiding. There were a number of minor matters he desired to bring to the attention of the Treasury officials, which could be accomplished to a better advantage by a personal visit to Washington than by official correspondence. He also contemplates a reclassification in certain branches of the working force, with a view to expediting the public business. The Collector returned to New York this afternoon.

To-day, while the President and the members of his Cabinet were holding the first regular meeting since the adjournment of Congress, Chauncey M. Depew appeared at the White House, accompanied by a gentleman and two ladies. The gossips jumped at the conclusion that his visit had some political or public significance. It turned out, however, that he was simply doing the "Washington guide act" for a few personal friends who were passing through the capital. The President was engaged in discussing the foreign complications with his Cabinet, and under the circumstatices it was not convenient for him to grant an interview to Mr. Depew and his friends. Frivate Secretary Thurber did the honors, and the party, under his cacort, explored the manison from the top floor to the conservatory. Mr. Depew tossed off several of his choicest bits of humor for the benefit of the poetical private secretary as they wandered of his Cabinet were holding the first regular his choicest bits of humor for the benefit of the poetical private secretary as they wandered through the state apartments. After showing Mr. Depew and his friends the interior of the mausion, Mr. Thurber presented the ladies with a few rare blossoms from the White House consesvatory. Mr. Depew escorted his friends through the Capitol and to other points of interest in the city, and left for the South in his private car.

Seized 3,000 Short Lobsters.

BOSTON, March 19. Three thousand short lobsters were dumped into the Charles River, near the mouth, this morning. They had been shipped from Canada and were consigned to a shipped from Canada and were consigned to a local fish commission dealer, although their ultimate destination was New York. The seiz-ure was made at the Park square station. The law under which the seizure was made says that whever sells or offers for sale, or has in his possession, lobsters under the statutory length, shall forfelt a fine of $5 for each lobster, In this case this would make the Boston agent liable to a fine of $15,000.

Perfect Reliance Was Placed in Paine's Celery Compound.

"When I was selected by Lieut, Peary to accompany him on his trip to the Arctic regions to try and find a way to the North Pole," says Mr. James W. Davidson in The Fourth Estate, "it was partly because of my strong, healthy constitution, and his belief that I could endure the fatigue and danger incident to the trip. I had been associated with him as his business manager on his lecturing tour, and was on terms of the greatest intimacy with him.

"When the ship Falcon left New York on her trip northward it had among the stores several cases of Paine's celery compound. The reputation of that medicine was well established, so that it was the most natural thing in the world that the members of the party, and they comprised men from nearly every walk in life, from common sallors to men of science, should desire

"The record of our perilous trip to Camp Anniversary is too well known to need repetition. Once in camp we naturally took an inventory of our possessions, and I was exceedingly glad to find Paine's celery compound. The medicine chest was open to all, and we were free to take from it what we thought advisable. I, in company with several others, selected some of the compound, taking a bottle of it to my cabin, knowing that it would be handy when wanted. Nor was I mistaken, for the excessive cold wous disorders at home. Well, sir, we tried it, and I must say that it helped every one of us. "When the long night of six months came on and we were in darkness, we found that the effects were very depressing. Imagine, if you can, living for six months in darkness such as occurs here every night, and you can readily understand how we were situated. It is a won-was that the cold weather made us all exceed-not very much to divert our attention, and the effect was something like solitary confinement in a dark cell. "I have used Paine's celery compound for a ozen ills such as a person is liable to have at any time, and especially in that desolate country. It has always helped me, and I should be pleased to have more of it should I go north "I do not know of any one thing that I can say more of than Paine's celery compound. It certainly is a great medicine, and I am an advocate

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE FAILED.

Granddaughter of the Late Congressman Houk Dies-Healers Arrested. DAYTON, Ohio, March 10.-Col. H. E. Mend is on-in-law of the late George W. Houk, member of Congress. Mrs. Houk, the widow, is a believer in Christian Science, and her daughter, Mrs. Mead, is a devoted disciple. The believers in Christian Science have a large following here among the influential families of the city. Their church is called the Church of the Christian Scientists, and the leaders of the flock are John R. Hatton and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Hatton occupy a large structure on South Brown street, near the main avenue that leads from the street to Woodland Cemetery. Mrs. Houk moved Bluffs to the Hatton residence, and occupies rooms there. Col. Mead and his wife reside at the family home of the Houks.

About three weeks ago Lella, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. Mead, became ill. Mr. Hatton, who styles himself a "Christian Scientist healer," and who attempts to cure by prayer, was called in. He remained at the Mead home over night, and at intervals offered prayers for the relief and recovery of the child. She was no better the next day, and Mrs. Hatton was called in. She and her husband jointly offered prayers. On the following day the child was removed to the rooms of its grandmother. Mrs. Houk. A physician was not called, and no medicines were given the child.

The Christian Science treatment was continued. This treatment consists in part in the effort to cause the sick person to believe that he or she is getting better, regardless of physical conditions. Oftentimes the sick person, when dying, is dressed and walked about the room and told that he is improving or convalescent.

On Saturday last, according to the statements of Mr. and Mrs. Hatton to the Chief of Police, the child was unable to get out of bed. About 10 o'clock on Monday morning Lelia died. Mr. Hatton hurried away to the office of Dr. S. George and summoned him to the scene. When Dr. George arrived the child was dead. The Dottor said that so far as he could gather from statements of the symptoms the child died of heart aliment. Other physicians say that the girl may have had cerebro-spinal meningitis.

Yesterday morning Mr. and Mrs. Hatton were taken before the Chief of Police. Both said they were professional faith curists, and had believed they could cure the child by prayer. Hatton said that when she was dying he sent for Dr. George simply to satisfy a sentiment that might develop if a doctor had not been called. Hatton was a carpenter and a hack driver until converted to the Chief of Police. belief. Soon he became one of the leaders.
Coroner Corbin decided to-day that the child died of neglect. The parants and the grand-mother declared they did for it what they thought best. Hatton and his wife are under arrest pending the official inquiry.

COL. BACON AS JOHN KNOX.

The Brooklyn Reformer Portrays the Scotperformance entitled "John Knox vs. Mary, Queen of Scots; or, The Story of the Scottish Reformation," was given in the Brooklyn Academy of Music last night under the direction of the Brooklyn union of the King's Daughters and Sons and the Wayside Home. The entertain-ment consisted of several scenes in Mary's career, and in the intervals a historical lecture by Mrs. H. E. Monroe, illustrated with the stereoption.

The first scene showed the rallying of the class under the leadership of James R. Lamb and Thomas halliday, who played bagpipes in Caledonian style. They were the Scotch costume, bare knees and all, and so did about him of the others. Other scenes portraved the of the others. Other scenes portrayed the in-terview between John Knox and Mary and Mary on her way to execution. Mrs. E. F. Pet-tengill represented Mary. The rôle of John Knox was appropriately taken by that stern reformer, Col. Alexander S. Bacon, in a black robe and a long gray beard, Col. Bacon's elocution was up to the average of amateurs. The performance will be repeated to-night.
